Message from the Executive Director

Mission

SHARE strengthens solidarity with and among the Salvadoran people in El Salvador and the United States in the struggle for economic sustainability, justice, and human and civil rights.

Vision

To transform society, SHARE increases the capacity of organized communities and their partners through our model of mutual accompaniment.

SHARE's Model of Mutual Accompaniment

As an organization of international solidarity, SHARE recognizes that it is not our role to enter communities, identify problems, and define and finance solutions. Instead, it is the people and communities living the cycles of injustice and oppression that need to lead the long-term efforts for structural change. Our role is to support the empowerment of and walk in solidarity with these communities, organizations, and individuals.

Queridos amigos y amigas,

Thousands of us gathered at Salvador del Mundo for a vigil the night before the official celebration of Archbishop Romero's beatification under the driving rain! The rain poured on us all night long, but then the sun rose and shined brighter than ever as our group grew to over 300,000, filling the plaza to mark the momentous occasion.

Romero's beatification validates the poor's denunciation of human rights violations. It is a way of healing the wounds of the war. Let us continue pressing for truth, justice, and reparations.

In 2014, SHARE sent three election delegations to El Salvador; two for the first and second election rounds and one for the presidential inauguration. We were joined by men and women who have stood in solidarity with our people to celebrate and recommit to the new phase of the struggle. La lucha sigue!

We continued supporting Pro-Memoria, the coalition of organizations advancing truth, justice, and reparations in El Salvador. This March, for the 35th anniversary of Monseñor Romero, we supported a national general assembly of victims that produced twenty demands, including calls for: the derogation of the Amnesty law; the investigation and sanction of all responsible for violations of human rights (like the case of Romero); and reparations to the victims of human rights abuses. We believe that the root causes of the current violence engulfing the country include impunity and lack of justice.

As we move forward, we are preparing to celebrate our own 35th anniversary in 2016. Our celebration will kick off with a delegation this December to remember the martyrdom of Ita, Maura, Dorothy and Jean, assassinated December 2, 1980. We hope to be joined by 100 delegates and invite you to come with us!

During the war and since, SHARE has organized 10,000 delegates who have gone to El Salvador and walked with the people. We have traversed the holy ground in el Mozote, Las Aradas del Sumpul, the Hospitalito of Romero, and touched the memorial wall of the martyrs.

None of this work would be possible without each of you and your enduring support! Thank you for making SHARE a wonderful organization.

We look forward to continuing the journey with you!

In solidarity,

Jose Artiga, Executive Director

Locke Jaeger, Board President

Isabel Hernández, El Salvador Office Director

Community Development Program

With your help, SHARE accompanied communities and social organizations with projects addressing women's empowerment, community development, and youth projects!

- 56 high school leaders from communities in Chalatenango, Tecoluca, San Vicente, Aguilares, El Paisnal, and Tacachico received scholarships to continue their education and develop their leadership skills through organizing literacy circles, community events, and anti-violence campaigns.
- 27 community leaders with community development experience but limited resources received scholarships to pursue university studies. Of these students, 5 graduated in 2014 in areas of social work, legal sciences, agricultural engineering, and business administration.
- 500 children and over 200 cooperative members planted and learned to care for 6,046 fruit trees of 10 different varieties in the departments of La Paz, San Vicente, and Ahuachapán.
- In more than 100 communities in the regions of Tecoluca, Chalatenango, Northern San Salvador, hundreds of women strengthened their skills, organization, food sovereignty, and economic opportunities. Over 200 women received training on managing home gardens. More than 300 women learned their rights in accordance with the Special Law for a Life Free of Violence Against Women.
- 40 women leaders developed public management skills to overcome barriers and advance their careers in the policy sector.

Fruit Trees for a Sustainable Future

According to the World Bank, over 40% of children in El Salvador are undernourished and children in rural areas are twice as likely to suffer from malnutrition as children in urban centers.

After a successful launch of this project last year, in 2014, SHARE once again partnered with CONFRAS and the Fruit Tree Planting Foundation to continue fruit tree planting in the department of La Paz.

In response to community requests, we added several more varieties of native species to the mix including anona, tamarind, mandarin, lemon, and cashew trees.

With SHARE's support, students, parents, and teachers in La Paz continued to combat childhood malnutrition by teaching 500 children to plant and care for 1,000 fruit trees in schoolyard orchards in 2014.

With the help of the Fruit Tree Planting Foundation and CONFRAS, 115 women and 92 men learned to care for and plant an additional 5,046 fruit trees to diversify agricultural production in local cooperatives. As leaders of their cooperatives, the women who participated in these trainings are redefining the role of women in their community.

The benefits of this project are even larger than food security, citizen participation, and women's leadership. El Salvador is the most densely populated and is the second most deforested country in the Western Hemisphere making it extremely vulnerable to the devastation natural disasters and environmental degradation.

Droughts and floods often destroy crops which forces El Salvador to import basic grains, driving up food prices and making it increasingly difficult for people to afford food. The use of non-native crops and monoculture production systems only makes this situation worse.

The deep root systems of native fruit trees enables them to access water during times of drought and prevent landslides during times of flooding. This project protects vulnerable communities by building environmental resilience to offset extreme weather.

Due to this project's great success, we've set a goal to plant a total of 100,000 trees!

Advocacy Program

- During the 2014 Tour for Truth and Justice, Wilfredo Medrano of Tutela Legal Maria Julia Hernandez and Bethany Loberg of SHARE educated over 1,000 people in six different U.S. cities on human rights abuses during the civil war and today.
- 29 women in four communities of Chalatenango improved the Advocacy Plan for the Women's Association.
- 38 women in La Libertad put into practice the knowledge they learned about women's organizing, women in leadership, women's rights, and political advocacy.
- 600 women in San Vicente learned their rights according to the Special Law for a Life Free of Violence Against Women and participated in marches for women's rights and food sovereignty.
- SHARE supported actions to stop mining in San Jose Las Flores to protect diminishing water resources. With a 67% voting turnout, 99% of voters in this municipality voted down the mining proposition. San Jose Las Flores became the first town in El Salvador to completely ban mining.
- SHARE continued supporting the push to ratify the amendment to Article 69 that will prevent the privatization of El Salvador's water resources and will grant Salvadorans the right to choose from where their seeds and food products come.

October 12 march demanding food and water rights and an end to mining.

The Struggle to End Violence Against Women

Hate crimes against women, such as femicide, is a prominent issue in El Salvador. In 2010, the Special Law for a Life Free of Violence Against Women set in motion various initiatives to prevent such violent acts against women and to insure proper treatment for survivors. In accordance with this law, various government institutions are required to establish Women's Attention Centers to provide specialized care for women survivors of violent crimes.

Long-time SHARE partner ORMUSA (Organization of Salvadoran Women for Peace) initiated a program to educate women on their rights in accordance with the law and to train personnel working in justice and public safety (i.e., police officers, judges, social workers, etc.) to properly respond to incidences.

With the support of the Dominican Sisters of San Rafael and the Rachael and Ben Vaughan Foundation, SHARE has supported ORMUSA in this initiative.

In March 2014, a new center opened in Sensuntepeque, Cabañas. ORMUSA trained 63 women and 39 men how to properly respond to and care for survivors of gender-based violence. With SHARE's support, ORMUSA strengthened the organization of 700 women in La Libertad to advocate for their rights and bring about change regarding women's status in society.

Grassroots Program

Thank you to our wonderful Grassroots Partners for your support and solidarity with the people of El Salvador!

- In 2014, SHARE brought 140 delegates from 9 Grassroots Partners on a life-changing journey to El Salvador.
- SHARE's Grassroots Program Coordinator Sarah Hall was blessed with the hospitality and generosity of SHARE supporters as they visited 11 SHARE Grassroots Partners in eight cities across the Midwest, East Coast, and Northwest U.S.

"As you listen more to their stories of hardships (and believe me, they will share them), you will realize how they are so personally challenged, in physical, mental, emotional, and spiritual ways...but yet they are happy and their faith is so strong. If you haven't felt challenged before, the way you may grow in your thinking will never be the same again. You will feel that change in heart and wow...it's great!"

-Dan Kasun, 2014 delegate with St. Elizabeth Ann Seton Parish in New Berlin, WI

SHARE's Grassroots Partnership Program

SHARE's Grassroots Partnership Program is an exciting and historic initiative driven by long-term, international relationships of mutual accompaniment, respect, and solidarity. Partnering through SHARE means building relationships based on respect and solidarity and walking side-by-side on the road to more just and equitable relations between the U.S. and El Salvador.

An original Sistering Partner in 1986 during the armed conflict.

"There is much that the United States has to offer El Salvador, but there is just as much that El Salvador has to offer the United States. Together, we can develop the approach that will be needed to assure that the economic, social, and political futures of both El Salvador and the United States are humane and progressive."

-Archbishop Oscar Romero

Major Delegations

- In February and March of 2014, SHARE hosted 2 observer delegations with over 100 total delegates who helped monitor the process. Observer reports highlighted the transparency, professionalism, and fluidity of the 2014 electoral process.
- Observers' reports help document what happens during an election to make recommendations regarding reforms to the process. Their presence can also help deter violence and some of the most open forms of fraud. SHARE's participation in observation since 1994 has allowed us to observe the need for and implementation of reforms.

"Meeting the people of El Salvador and hearing their stories was one of my favorite parts about my trip to El Salvador. Hearing the sad stories from the mothers who lost their husbands and sons during the revolution and getting no real help or restitution from the various governments broke my heart. Hearing the stories of the priests, nuns, and peaceful volunteers that were brutalized and killed fighting for peace and the rights of the people was shocking and disturbing. Watching folks line up early in the morning, hours before the polls would open, to vote in the presidential election was inspiring."

-Elections observer delegate

Major Delegations

Major delegations give individuals the unique opportunity to walk with Salvadorans as they remember their past and confront current struggles. Whether the delegation focuses on observing elections, investigating current issues or remembering historic figures who fought for justice such as Archbishop Oscar Romero, delegates learn about the Salvadoran reality, build deep relationships with the Salvadoran people, are inspired by the Salvadoran people's profound hope and faith, and accompany those working for social change and justice in El Salvador.

Delegations are a key part of SHARE's accompaniment model. While itineraries vary depending on the theme or event, delegates explore and experience El Salvador through visits to organized communities, meetings with activists, and demonstrate solidarity with the Salvadoran people by participating in major events. Any group or individual is invited to join SHARE in El Salvador for these life-changing opportunities.

Meet SHARE Scholarship Student: Rubia Guardado!

A leader in her community, Rubia Guardado is among the first SHARE El Salvador Legacy Fund Scholarship Recipients. From 2009-2013, as the Women's Program Coordinator with the CCR, Rubia played a vital role in shaping women's rights, education, and empowerment programs in the rural department of Chalatenango in northern El Salvador. She volunteered full time to organize rural women in her community and for the past two years has been lead promoter for the current Women's Program.

In 2013, Rubia began studying social work at the university level with help of the SHARE El Salvador Legacy Fund.

SHARE scholarships creates opportunities for Rubia and other women in her community to create pathways to food sovereignty and equal rights: “I will have a better capacity to help the community. I will have more political advocacy experience and technical knowledge. The community gives me strength and the drive to continue studying.”

The SHARE El Salvador Legacy Fund supports students like Rubia to gain the skills and education to lead their communities to a more just and prosperous future. The Legacy Fund has over $600,000 in gifts and pledges of real estate, life insurance, IRAs, and bequests. There are many ways to leave your legacy with SHARE, contact Katherine Wilson at katherine@share-elsalvador.org for more information.
